

ABSTRACT OF THE INVENTION

The present invention is in the field of delivery and storage of real-time data in communications networks. More particularly, the present invention provides a method,
5 apparatus, system, and machine-readable medium to store an encoded audio or video stream.

Attorney's Office